Dr. Jas. L. ARMSTRONG, of Bedford DAN. BURFORD, Esq., of Smith, fell from the errace of the Capitol Tuesday night, and vere severely hurt. Each had a leg broken. The night was very dark and rainy, and by ome oversight the lamps had not been lit.

20 Dr. BROWNLOW said in the speech at he Capital the other evening, that he would ather vote for the son-in law of the devil han for the nominee of the Charleston Conention. It is hardly probable that the Docor will have a chance to vote for the latter, s he is not likely to run against the nominee

We dropped in upon Monsieur LAM-ERT yesterday, and found bim surrounded y samples of the vintage of his native France selections from the choice wines and branlies peculiar to his country. We take pleasre in saying that they are of the best qualiy, and that in variety, as well as purity, hey are unsurpassed. Purchasers to sell gain, or consumers, would do well to examne his stock. Druggists are constantly in eed of a pure article of Brandy and Port Vine for medicinal purposes. Here is the lace to get them. Purer articles are no here to be had. And prices are not exorbi ant: less indeed than are asked for interior rticles elsewhere. Those who wish anything this line ought by all means to call on M. nion, up stairs.

From the Christian Advocate and Journal, New York, Aug. 4, 1859. THE HOUSEKERPER'S FRIEND .- SPALDING'S PREPARED GIUE -Small conveniences for general family use are often of more value than what are called "great aventions." It is estimated that in the United States there are at least five millions of households, in all of which the annovance of squaking, rickety chairs sofas, tables, etc., is constantly experienced, and so long as furniture is in this condition there is always langer of a "-smash-up." The experience of the city house-keeper, with May day before her eyes, will readily suggest the value and convenience of a really rustworthy prepared glue, that can be instantly brought in requisition where repairs to farniture and other household wares are needful. The want of such an article is as constant and universal as the family, and hitherto it has been a want unsupplied. This, however, can be truly said no longer. Spald ing's Prepared Glue seems to be all that has been de sired in this direction. It is kept soluble by chemi als, retains its strength and tenacity, is convenient and always "up to the sticking point," is put up in a pottle with a brush, and sold at twenty-five cents. No house-keeper in city or country can well afford to be without a bottle of Spalding's Prepared Gine. It is just the thing for the library and schools, where books are constantly in need of repair.
